

Board of Trustees

CFT's funds and underlying assets are governed by an independent board of trustees, composed of respected community leaders from diverse backgrounds. They are selected for their knowledge of and commitment to community needs and for their professional expertise. The trustees' charge is to understand donors' interests and the roles of nonprofits, acting as stewards of more than 900 funds. Trustees serve without compensation and exercise the final authority with regard to all CFT investments and charitable grants.
